

What to Expect

Successful work management encompasses more than achieving milestones and meeting deadlines. WorkOut will stimulate thought-provoking discussions aimed at giving you new, actionable, and innovative ideas about the way you manage work.

Keynotes

What's next for AtTask and what does it mean to you? Be the first to hear the latest industry updates and announcements—and grab a front row seat to be inspired and re-energized by the wisdom of an incredible lineup of industry thought leaders.

Tracks and Sessions

You can choose from over 20 different sessions and 4 different tracks (basic, business, technical, and product training). You'll learn best practices, insider tips from experts, case studies, and much more.

Product Training

Roll up your sleeves and get ready to customize, configure and build. As part of your full conference registration, you will have access to @task training. The best way to learn is by doing.

One-on-One Consulting

Get all your questions answered, participate in 30-minute one-on-one consulting sessions with AtTask experts.

Great News

WorkOut 2011, the next-generation AtTask User Conference, is guaranteed to be bigger, better and more fun than ever before. This year, several additions have been made to ensure the most out of your WorkOut experience.

PDU's

WorkOut 2011 has been approved by the Project Management Institute (PMI) to offer Professional Development Units (PDU's) for all attendees. Each eligible attendee will receive a total of 12 PDU's for attending this year's conference.

Using AtTask Education Credits

Attendees may use pre-paid AtTask education credits to attend a variety of track sessions, as well as general sessions, keynotes, receptions, and parties. WorkOut 2011 will provide an opportunity for attendees to receive valuable and applicable information for their organizations. Speak with your AtTask account manager or customer success representative for more details.

Schedule of Events

To help you get the most out of your WorkOut 2011 experience, we've planned a variety of training classes, one-on-one product trainings, orientations, networking opportunities, and much more. Plan to arrive early!
