

Moving from myCignaforHealth.com to myCigna.com

We can help you COMMUNICATE about that.

myCigna.com, the new site for your employees to manage their health and health care expenses, will be up and running this summer, and we want to make it easy for you to get them ready.

We've put together communication materials that you can use to let them know about the transition from myCignaforHealth.com to myCigna.com and what they can expect when the site launches. Because the site won't be ready until later this summer, we've also included our recommendation on when to send each piece as we lead up to the launch.

Communications	We recommend sending to your employees
“GET READY to click with a site that clicks with you” flyer: Give your employees an overview of what they can look forward to on the new site.	After April 1
“CONNECT with myCigna” ecard: A quicker, shorter email version of the overview flyer. Send this out along with the overview flyer, or separately for additional communications.	After April 1
“A BETTER SITE is in your sights” Reminder ecard: When the launch gets closer, use this ecard to remind your employees that the new site is almost here.	After May 1
“We have Lift off” Launch ecard: Send this out to let your employees know that myCigna.com is launched.	When the new site launches

We're excited for your employees to start using myCigna.com!

The good news is that they don't need to do anything to prepare for the new site. Once the site launches, they'll just need to spend a few minutes registering on myCigna.com, but after that – they'll be all set.

Be on the lookout for more info – we've got communications for you too! In the meantime, if you have any questions feel free to reach out to your Cigna sales representative.
