

Fifth Third Image Archive Services

Store and access images of transit and inclearing check items quickly and easily

Financial Institutions today face the growing burden of archiving deposit items and providing real time access for customers and employees. Typically, images of these items are burned to disk for storage, then shipped off-site as part of a disaster recovery solution, or accessed by your service partner after you submit a request. This creates significant retrieval challenges and customer service delays. You need a highly accessible solution that archives items for as long as required, reduces costs and helps keep your institution in compliance.

Fifth Third Network's Archive Services solution provides multiple-levels of image and data storage for transit and inclearing items processed through the Network. Archived items are easily retrieved through Fifth Third Direct™, our convenient online portal, and remain available for a customer-defined retention period.
