

ICIS dashboard service

your view on the chemical markets

In today's fast-moving world, you need quick and easy access to the information you rely on. ICIS has developed the ICIS dashboard service to give you ready access to its benchmark pricing data, news and analysis in one place.

The ICIS dashboard is sets a new standard for the delivery of chemical intelligence to our users.

The dashboard allows you to easily switch between the different ICIS chemical products you subscribe to and prioritise the price quotations you most want to see. Select a price and the price history and market updates change to show related information.

Use the dashboard to build your own view of the pricing information that's important to you.

- Chart and export price history data to build trends giving you a view of where prices might be heading.

- Use the market updates to keep pace with developments, making sure you know about any events affecting prices.
- Price alerts and analysis of feedstock profitability for chemicals give you the price data you need to stay ahead of the market and optimise your business's profitability.

The dashboard gives you access to the price data you need together with the context around those prices, so you can gauge where prices are heading.

The ICIS dashboard is your window on the chemical markets, helping you to find the information you need, when you need it.

It's your fast-track route into the chemical markets you need to stay on top of, and your one-stop view of all the pricing information and market data you need to support your commercial decisions.

US SPICE ACQUANTILE PRICE INCREASE ON STRONG DEMAND	08 Mar 2011 14:24
ACQUANTILE (US GULF) - US spot acquantile (2011) prices continue their surge into record territory on Friday, pushed higher by strong demand.
US spot ACN prices increased by $50/tonne (€50/tonne) to $2,000-2,050/tonne, as assessed by ICIS, reflecting their strengthening value.	05 Mar 2011 08:46
Since the start of October 2010, ACN prices have been raised by $700-700/tonne, US spot ACN prices broke their June 2010 record of $2,475/tonne just one week ago.	04 Mar 2011 07:29
Production and supply will remain tight for the duration until the 3rd and 4th quarters, according to ICIS, as the market remains tight for ACN prices.
An AP producer said it was optimistic in the absence of $200-300/tonne. An ACN producer said it thought most of its sales were coming from the high end of the range.
AP demand has been strong by a clear margin, which boosted color prices and made AP a viable competitor.
However, AP producer said it was starting to see margin erosion from high ACN prices, despite strong global demand for AP.
In the US market, demand has been steady as has been strong for the year of the US. The new US production sector, however, has been raised by $100/tonne.
Major US producers of ACN are Asahi Performance Materials, Commodity Chemical and INEOS Nitro.
