

LexisNexis® National Criminal File

Mitigate your risk with one of the industry's most comprehensive criminal database searches.

A thorough criminal background check is a critical part of the hiring process. It can alleviate risk for your organization by identifying people—before they're hired—who might compromise the safety of your employees, your assets and your intellectual capital.

Thousands of organizations, from small businesses to Fortune 500 enterprises, rely on the LexisNexis® National Criminal File as a supplement to their criminal background searches. This powerful search is one of the most comprehensive, efficient criminal background check tools in the industry.

Actionable Information

LexisNexis National Criminal File provides affordable, instant access to criminal records across all 50 states by combining records from multiple sources:

- Fugitive file and government watch list
- State sex offender registries
- State and county criminal record repositories
- LexisNexis proprietary criminal records
- State departments of corrections
- Administrative offices of the court

Our database is managed by an expert team of associates who are dedicated to maintaining the highest quality of data, and ensuring that the data is updated on a regular basis. In fact, each day we add new proprietary records to the database. These proprietary records are compiled from the more than 8 million court searches we conduct nationwide each year.

Key Features & Benefits

- Faster hiring process
Speed up your time-to-hire by instantly searching against millions of records maintained in the database.
- Nationwide coverage
Find serious offenses in states outside the jurisdictions where your candidates have lived and worked.
- Reduce cost while identifying risk
Alleviate the need for additional background screens if an offense is identified that would disqualify your candidate.
- Easily review results
Add additional screening services such as county-level checks, verifications and drug testing, and receive all reports via one convenient, centralized Website.

Best Practice Recommendation

The LexisNexis National Criminal File is an incredibly valuable tool. However, it is recommended that you perform a national criminal database search as a supplement to conducting your county court searches.

When combined, these searches complement each other and drastically enhance the effectiveness of your criminal background check to provide you with the most comprehensive information available.
