The World's Quest for Clean Energy

December 1, 2011 • 8 a.m. - 2 p.m. • Digital Sandbox • 55 Broad St. New York, New York

The 2011 Platts Global Energy Outlook Forum will examine the global challenges and opportunities in the pursuit for cleaner energy. Join over 200 energy executives for in-depth insight into end-use technologies, the fundamentals of a green economy, the realities of global supply and rising demand, and perhaps most importantly the politics that surround what is likely to remain the 21st century's biggest obstacle—climate change. Make your plans now to attend.

Agenda

8:00 a.m. – 9:00 a.m. Registration (with continental breakfast)

9:00 a.m. – 9:15 a.m. Opening and Introductory Remarks
John Kingston, Global Director, News, Platts
David DuCharme, Vice President, Smart Energy Services, Capgemini

9:15 a.m. – 10:15 a.m. Supply & Demand Realities
Demand for energy relentlessly expands, while fuel sources are inevitably derailed by politics, natural disasters or operational errors. Furthermore, Middle East unrest, forces the necessary question: How can we establish energy stability to soften the impact of another disruption in the global energy supply? This roundtable will explore the complexities of supply & demand and their implications in 2012 and beyond.

Panelists

Jim Kohlhaas, Vice President, Strategic Energy Programs, SAIC (Moderator)
Jim Simpson, Vice President, BENTEK Energy
Kevin Book, Managing Director, ClearView Energy Partners LLC
Cheri Collins, General Manager, Southern Nuclear
Jean-Paul Crouzoulon, Sr. Vice President Operations, AREVA Renewables

10:15 a.m. – 10:30 a.m. Short break (refreshments)

10:30 a.m. – 12:00 p.m. The Green Economy
The fundamentals of a Green Economy will influence challenges and opportunities for clean energy. Technology increasingly allows us to be smarter about consumption, but what do conservation incentives do to the bottom line? Do global politics motivate a more efficient economy or create knee-jerk reactions?

Panelists

John Joyce, President & CEO, Ambient Corporation (Moderator)
Lauren Azar, Senior Advisor, U. S. Department of Energy
Roger Ballentine, President & CEO, Green Strategies
Peter Huber, Senior Fellow, Manhattan Institute
Britta Gross, Director, Global Energy Systems, General Motors

12:00 p.m. – 2:00 p.m. Lunch (Award of Excellence Ceremony)

This year we will be recognizing the finalists in two categories as Award of Excellence winners for 2011, Rising Star Award – Company and Sustainable Technology Innovation of the Year.
