

Anthony Hohmann

ETF Product Manager

Wealth Management Research

Anthony re-joined S&P Capital IQ in 2012 and manages Exchange Traded Fund (ETF) and Fixed Income Research. As a member of the Enterprise Solutions Team, Anthony is responsible for developing and executing growth plans for ETF and Fixed Income research products as well as expanding S&P Capital IQ's cross-asset research capabilities in the wealth management space.

Prior to re-joining S&P Capital IQ, Anthony completed a Masters in Business Administration from Fordham University, with a dual concentration in Finance and Accounting. Upon completion of his first year of business school, Anthony was a sales and trading summer associate at UBS Wealth Management where he worked on the Market Executions Desk. As a summer associate, he was responsible for managing projects focused on better serving the firm's multi-billion dollar ultra high net worth client base, as well as spearheading financial analysis for the senior equity and fixed income trading desks. Before Fordham, Anthony worked as a Licensing Associate at S&P Capital IQ where he negotiated intellectual property agreements with clients on behalf of the firm's various business units. In 2007, Anthony received a Bachelor of Science in pre-law studies from Marist College.

Anthony volunteers with Big Brothers Big Sisters of New York City and is an avid triathlete.
