

Securely and efficiently sharing large volumes of documentation among constituencies can be a very complex challenge. Whether it's in the high-stakes world of M&A, preparing for an initial public offering or restructuring a business, billions of dollars and professional reputations may be on the line.

SmartRoom is where people and data meet at the virtual table. No matter where in the world they are, your teams can confidently share documents, access files and complete due-diligence. SmartRoom offers the highest levels of security, a global delivery network to support you 24/7 and deal-grade service that follows the sun. It's the virtual data room that works like you work – mirroring your process and staging the company in real time to maximize deal value.

Deal Grade Service

We know mistakes can significantly impact deal value. That's why our global team of experts is committed to a higher standard of excellence. A dedicated SmartRoom project manager works to guide you through best practices and ensure only the right people have access to the right information. The deal's evolution places enormous pressure on limited resources. As the transaction progresses, SmartRoom provides real-time editing and indexing tools to help you keep pace with the timeline. And our team of experts helps you maximize deal value by minimizing costly defects, delays and risk.

Global Delivery

No matter where in the world you are, we provide the global, 24/7 toll-free support resources, 11 user interface languages, and hosting capabilities you need to conduct transactions and maximize deal value.

Real-Time Deployment

Because your deal moves fast, SmartRoom helps expedite the due-diligence process and stay on track with your timeline. Whether you need to stage information immediately or distribute the workload to multiple locations at once, our solution lets you execute in real time, quickly, easily and securely. So you can close the deal sooner and maximize its value.

Dimensional Security

The confidentiality level and sheer volume of data shared between the companies can be considerable. Regardless of the corporate event, sensitive internal documents and data are shared among parties. SmartRoom brings it all together under one common platform, so you can facilitate collaboration and transact business.

Establish a Higher Standard

Every opportunity is different and your technology should move at the speed of your deal. That's why we've built SmartRoom to provide the rapid response you need to accommodate changes, while ensuring proper security and access controls.

Whether you need to run a staged process or utilize a room to drive early due diligence, SmartRoom provides the most efficient way to collaborate and manage your deals.

Flexible Distributed Workflows

Our granular user rights management system enables securely uploading and downloading multiple documents, to and from folders, simultaneously from multiple locations around the globe. Real-time configuration rendering of documents can be distributed to a disparate work group without fear of unauthorized access to room content. A series of configurable objects that uniquely render the site to optimally portray room access and contents maximizes deal team efficiency.

Intelligent Control

Cutting edge physical, software and site administration security controls wrapped in a functionally rich content viewer. SmartRoom's Variable Secure Viewing allows users to view information in native formats without conversion. If needed, information can be screen rendered without a plug-in to eliminate caching which leaves a 'fingerprint' behind on user's local hard drives.

Dynamic Indexing

Real-time rendering of the SmartRoom structure along with documents, artifacts, and folders geared to provide all audiences simple and quick access based on fluid deal team instructions. Our dynamic indexing is tuned to eliminate site layers and administrative barriers, as well as create the uniquely intended index representation to match the participants functional role.

Intuitive Reporting

Keep track of your deal with reports designed to provide information down to the individual user or document. With best practices built-in, our reports highlight key deal metrics.
